

Choosing the right contractor

1. Are they insured?

To work at your premises a contractor should be insured for the work they are planning to do. Public and employers liability insurance is standard.

2. What is the standard of work?

Bringing in a contractor to work at your premises carries with it a range of risks to you, the building and the other people working in the building. A contractor needs to their utmost to reduce the risks associated with the work involved, the best way to do this is to ensure the contractor you use carries out their work within an approved Health & Safety Management system that creates risk assessments for all work undertaken

3. Are they compliant?

Your duty of care is to ensure the waste is disposed of properly and the company you ask to do the work is licenced by the environment agency. All paperwork should be provided to you including a waste transfer note for the general waste clearance as well as consignment notes for hazardous waste streams. You should also want to know where the waste is being taken to, the recycling and reuse figures and what has happened to the waste once it has been taken offsite.

4. Do they come recommended?

It is probably best to get to know the contractor. Do some background checks on their history, the main people involved and most importantly ask for testimonials or references for the similar type of work they have done for other clients.

Enviro Waste is all of the above, see below:

Insurance

Our Public Liability insurance covers us for £5,000,000
Our Employers Liability insurance covers us for £10,000,000

Standard of work

Our H&S management System complies with HSG65

Compliance

Licensed Waste Carrier: We are regulated by the Environmental Agency as a licensed waste carrier
T11 License: Allowing us to carry out the repairing/refurbishing of waste electrical and electronic equipment
S2 License: Allowing us to store general waste securely at a different place to where the waste was produced
(All licenses are available on request)

Recommended

Trust Pilot Account - <http://www.trustpilot.co.uk/review/envirowaste.co.uk>

Feel free to get in touch to discuss the clearance in further detail – Call on 020 8556 5056 or email on info@envirowaste.co.uk